SATURDAY ..... June 16, 1860.

Spirit of the Morning Press. The Constitution tells about a revised edition of Mr. Douglas's speech delivered in the Senate on the 15th and 16th of May, and how it was particularly struck with the manner in which it says the quotation from Mr. Stephen's letter has been abbreviated by the editor of the revised pamphlet.

The Intelligencer has its usual Congressional summary and news miscellany.

WASHINGTON NEWS AND GOSSIP. Doing Good SERVICE .- Mr. Sumner, in his late speech, has done his country infinite service. The newspapers come to us from all sections of country replete with comments upon it. We do not mean to intimate that we have yet seen a single newspaper criticism of it dignifying it with the title of an argument upon the question the Senator from Massachusetts aimed to discussnot one. The comments upon it are altogether upon its tone, and the position with reference to the rights of the South guaranteed by the Constitution in which it places the political party in whose behalf it was pronounced. Every American journalist who has so far noticed it, as far as we have seen, regards it as a mere phillippic-a violent tirade-against the institution of African slavery, very artistically pronounced. As an essay filled with polished and classical gall and bitterness, but entirely failing to embrace a single substantial argument, or even a single point, likely to convince any man not already as intensely crazed with abolitionism as Wm. Lloyd Garrison or John Brown, of the soundness of any one of its positions. Nevertheless, his essay is doubtless destined to serve a good end, in the way of warning the country that the party in whose behalf it was spoken cannot obtain control of the Government of the Confederacy, without thereby bringing it-the Confederacy-to an end. The Republican journals are for the most part apologizing for the speech; protesting that it does not correctly represent their party's sentiments; while the conservative opposition and Democratic party press, as well as the independent press of the country, are holding the Republican party to rigid accountability for the tenor of the political designs so elaborately explained in the quod erat demonstrandum of Mr Sumner's pronunciamento.

We think it cannot fail to be worth thousands of votes against Lincoln, because it is simply a drawing out of the arguments of Lincoln himself, to the doctrines that naturally result from his positions in debate. To be sure, more shrewd than Mr. Sumner, he (Lincoln) takes care now and then to protest that he does not mean what he says. But Mr. Sumner fortunately demonstrates so clearly as that the dullest may fully comprehend, the exact meaning of what Lincoln does say, in defiance of the latter's evident wish to hide that from the country at large until after November next. The Democratic party in Congress are spreading this speech (Mr. Sumner's) broadcast in all directions, as being likely to prove the most powerful anti-Republican electioneering document they can disseminate; their belief being that it will serve, more than aught else that has been said or done in the course of the Saulsbury, Sebastian, Slidell, Toombs, Wigfall, present session of Congress, to open the eyes of all at the North who value the Union, to the fact that the Government of the United States cannot survive the year in which those who hold its sentiments may be installed as its administrators.

LIST OF NEWLY-APPOINTED MIDSHIPMEN .-The following is a list of the late graduates at the Naval Academy, in order of merit, who received their warrants yesterday as Midshipmen in the Navy :- M. S. Stuyvesant, A. D. Wharton, J. D. Maron, J. O. Kane, S. P. Gillett, T. L. Swann, S. D. Ames, T. L. Dornin, J. C. Watson, J. L. Tayloe, H. R. Robison J. C. Watson, J. L. Tayloe, H. B. Robison, A. R. McNair, W. H. Barton, F. S. Brown, H. H. Manley, W. Whitehead, E. A. Walker, W. S. Schley, I. L. Harrison, J. L. Hoole, S. B. Paddock, F. L. Hoge, S. Casey, E. G. Read, C. W. Read.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.-The select committee of the House upon the Pacific Railroad bill have reported a bill providing for two roads-one the Southern (Texas) route, and the other the Central route-and upon their motion the bill is postponed till the third Tuesday of next December.

MR. EDITOR:—Sir: Will you do me the favor to inform me who concocted the Navy Pay (Increase) bill? It is certainly the most ridiculous thing I ever saw. The "oldest Flag Officer," under all circumstances, is to receive $4,500, whilst any Captain commanding a squadron will receive $5,000. The pay of Lieut. Gen. Scott is about $15,000 per annum. Please answer and oblige an old salt and subscriber. E. B. S. Washington, D. C., June 16, 1860.

IIIVIth CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION. Proceedings of Yesterday Afternoon.

IN THE SENATE, yesterday, after our report closed, Mr. Mason, from the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the facts attending the late invasion and seizure of the United States armory, at Harper's Ferry, submitted a report, a brief portion of which was read by Mr. M. The report was ordered to be printed, together with the journal of the committee and the testimony, and the committee was discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

[The report is an elaborate one, consisting of one hundred and forty-six foolscap pages.]

The following is a short extract from it: "The committee, after much consideration, are not prepared to suggest any legislation which, in their opinion, would be adequate to prevent like occurrences in the future. * * * * * * It was simply the act of lawless ruffians, under the sanction of no public or political authority; distinguishable only from ordinary felonies by the ulterior ends in contemplation by them, and by the fact that the money to maintain the expedition and the large armament they brought with them had been contributed and furnished by citizens of other States of the Union, under circumstances that must continue to jeopard the safety and peace of the Southern States, and against which Congress has no power to legis-late. If the several States, whether from motives of policy or a desire to preserve the peace of the Union, if not from fraternal feeling, do not hold it incumbent on them, after the experience of the country, to guard in future, by appropriate legis-lation, against occurrences similar to the one we have inquired into, the committee can find no guarantee elsewhere for the security of peace between the States of the Union." Mr. Doolittle (Mr. Collamer not being present) submitted the views of the minority, also a very elaborate and carefully prepared paper drawn by Mr. C., from which the following is a short ex-

"There is no evidence that any other citizens than those there with Brown were accessory to this outbreak or invasion, by contributions thereto or otherwise, nor any proof that any others had any knowledge of the conspiracy or its purpose in the year 1859, though Realf and Forbes and some very few may have understood it in 1858, when it failed of execution. Although some of the testimony tends to show that some abolitionists have at times contributed money to what is occasionally called practical abolitionism, that is, aiding the escape of slaves, and may have placed too implicit confidence in John Brown, yet there is no evidence to show or cause to believe they had any complicity with this conspiracy, or any suspicion of its existence or design before its explosion. There was no evidence tending to show that there ever was any conspiracy or design by any one to rescue John Brown or his associates from prison in Virginia."

The views of the minority were ordered to printed with the report of the majority. Mr. Mason, from the same committee, submitted that the select committee having been discharged from the further consideration of the subject, Ordered, That Thaddeus Hyatt, a witness confined in the jail of this city for refusal to appear and testify before said committee, be discharged from custody; and that a copy of this order be delivered to the jailor by the Sergeant-at-Arms as his warrant for discharging said prisoner. Mr Sumner, while he thanked the committee for discharging Mr. Hyatt, went into an argument to show that he had been improperly arrested, and that the power assumed was a dangerous one, and subversive of the rights of the citizen. The report of the select committee releasing

Mr. Hyatt was then agreed to.

The motion of Mr. Hunter to postpone the Tariff bill until the second Monday in December, after discussion by Mr. Hunter in favor of it, and Messrs. Bigler, Cameron, Seward, and Simmons against it, was carried by the following vote: Yeas Messrs. Bayard Bragg, Chesnut, Clingman, Davis, Fitzpatrick, Green, Gwin, Hemphill, Hunter, Johnson of Ark., Johnson of Tenn., Lane, Mallory, Pearce, Polk, Powell, Pugh, Rice, and Yulee-25.

Nays - Messrs. Anthony, Bigler, Cameron, Chandler, Clark, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Hale, Hamlin, Harlan, King, Latham, Seward, Simmons, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Trumbull, Wade, Wilkinson, and Wilson-23. Mr. Bingham paired off with Mr Iverson, Mr. Durkee with Mr. Benjamin, Mr. Fitch with Mr. Collamer, and Mr. Grimes with Mr. Hammond. Mr. Slidell submitted the following resolution:

Resolved. That a Select Committee of three members be appointed by the Vice President whose duty it shall be to consider the propriety of modifying the existing laws fixing and regulastanding Treasury notes, to authorize a loan, to fix the duties on imports, and for other purposes, and report such modifications as they may deem proper to the Senate on the second Monday in December next.

On motion by Mr. Bright, the Senate took up the bill in relation to malicious injuries to and trespassing upon public and private property within the District of Columbia; and it was read a third time and passed. On motion by Mr. Gwin, the Senate disagreed to the amendments of the House to facilitate communications between the Atlantic and Pacific States by electric telegraph. Mr. Hunter move that the Senate insist upon its amendments to the bill making appropriation for the support of the army, and asked a committee of conference on the disagreeing votes—

And the Vice President appointed Messrs. Pearce, Davis, and Foot on the part of the Senate.

Adjourned at 10 o'clock p. m.

IN THE HOUSE, Mr. Delano presented a resolution of the Legislature of Massachusetts instructing the Senators and requesting the Representatives from that State to use their efforts to precure the enactment of more stringent laws for preventing the importation of deceased cattle. The resolution was laid upon the table and ordered to be

The House passed a bill authorizing the issue of land warrants in cases where the originals have been lost or destroyed. The bill to establish telegraphic communication with the Pacific was taken up, when-

Mr. Colfax moved a concurrence in the Senate's amendment to restore the name of Zenas Barnum and others, and to authorize a contract with them for the establishment of the line. Mr. Burnett moved to lay the bill on the table;

but the question was determined in the negativeyeas 70, nays 120. The House then refused to concur in the Senate's amendment-yeas 53, nays 104; so the bill will again go to that body.

The House acceded to the request of the Senate for another committee of conference on the Homestead bill. The House receded from its amendment to the bill providing for the return of the recaptured Africans, (which proposed to increase the amount from $100 to $150 for the maintenance and care of each per annum,) and concurred in the Senate's amendment to the light-house appropriation bill. At the evening session, after the transaction of District business, (which will be found in our local department,) the Senate amendment to the Civil Appropriation bill, carrying out the con-tract with Gales & Seaton for the publication of a continuation of the "American State Papers," etc., having been read-

Mr. Crawford said Gales & Seaton sold to Wendell, and the two parties divided between them $68,000; and now they come here and ask for more Mr. Stevens remarked he had the authority of

Mr. Seaton for saying that he never sold an interest to any party; and, besides, Gales & Seaton were fitting up their own building in which to perform the work. Mr. Crawford replied, then the testimony be fore the Senate's select committee is false

Mr. Pryor advocated the amendment, and made a statement similar to that of Mr Stevens, and did not see that it involved an increase of expenditure. Mr. Crawford made a calculation to show that, whereas the sum of $6 12 was given for a volume, it was now proposed to raise the price to $9.78, making a profit of $129,000.

Mr. Perry was willing to carry out the old contract, but was opposed to the one now proposed.

Mr Pettit showed the importance of these documents. It was with a view to the preservation of our political history that the volumes were compiled. He was opposed to any amendment which was likely to lead to the stoppage of the work. He explained the reasons why the price of the volumes was increased. After further debate, the amendment of the Senate was concurred in, with an amendment private bills.

IN THE SENATE, to-day, after the disposal of a number of private bills, the joint resolution on printing was taken up, and the amendment providing for having the printing done by contract disagreed to.

The vote was being taken on the original resolution, establishing a government printing office, when our report closed.

House .- Mr. Train, from the select investigating committee of which Mr. Covode is chair-man, made a detailed report, stating that, from the examination of various witnesses, they had the examination of various witnesses, they had come to the conclusion that great corruption had been used on the part of the President and other high officials. Ordered to be printed.

The Senate resolution extending the session of Congress until Monday, the 25th, was agreed to.

The House then proceeded to consider various

Correspondence of The Star

GEORGETOWN, June 16, 1860. The lecture of the Rev. T. H. Stockton on materialism and spiritualism, at Congress-st. Church on Thursday evening, was listened to with marked attention by a large and intelligent audience. It was a finished-production, evincing deep research upon the part of the learned author, and was delivered with his accustomed force of manner and beauty of style. The tones of his finely modu-lated voice are so musical that one would lister delighted even if he was speaking in an unknown tongue; but when he announces great truths, clothed in most beautiful imagery, and presents old thoughts in a new and attractive light, all hearts are swayed by his eloquence. We may send you an abstract in our next letter from the notes we took, and would be glad to see the lecture published, as it is a complete refutation of the arguments of materialists.

At the meeting of our City Councils last evenng, resolutions appropriating $200 for cleaning and repairing the streets, and appropriating $500 (being one half the appropriation of $1,000 by the Levy Court) for repairs of the road from Seventh street to the Stone House, passed both Boards. The Board of Aldermen refused to recede from their amendment to the police ordinance. In the Board of Common Council, the amendment to the ordinance in relation to an omnibus stand, which provides for a change of location to intersection of Bridge and Washington streets, was withdrawn by Mr. Fearson. Mr. King offered an ordinance for increase of revenue, raising the rates of licenses for traders and others; which was referred to the committee of ways and means. The annexation resolution, which looks to an amalgamation of Washington and Georgetown, elicited an interesting debate, and passed by the following vote:
